GRS Cooperative Building Committee and School Board Release a DVD

Coming soon to your living room; The GRS Building Committee and School Board have produced a 12 minute DVD with some important information about the proposal that will go before the Cooperative School District voters on March 21.

According to Ben Mayerson, Chair of the Committee, “We wanted to give the voters a chance to have something they could review at their convenience, in their own home.” The DVD begins by showing some of the problems in the Gorham Middle High School. The second part shows the design solutions and some of the exciting improvements that are coming. The next two segments show the issues and solutions pertaining to the Edward Fenn Elementary. The final section deals with the pricing and voting process.

“A picture does say a thousand words”, says Jo Carpenter, Chair of the School Board. “I hope everyone takes the opportunity to view this piece, and share in the excitement of what is to come”.

The DVD is free and will be available after March 1. Anyone who attends a Town meeting, in Gorham, Randolph, or Shelburne, can get a copy on Town Meeting day. Copies can also be picked up at the main offices of the two schools, and the SAU office. The Committee is currently making arrangements for other locations to have the DVDs available as well. For more information, or to find out where you can get your own copy, call the SAU20 office at 466-3632 or visit the Building Committee’s webpage at www.sau20.org/building.
